Hostilities Cease In Syria At Midnight

British Bombers Renew Attacks On Nazi Naval Base

London, July 12.—(AP)—Britain sent some of her heaviest bombers back over the channel today after a night assault in a thunderstorm on the German naval base of Wilhelmshaven and the day fighters were reported to have pounded railway and canal communications in the Saint Omer area.

Five German fighters were destroyed and two British fighters are missing, it was reported, in this assault just behind the invasion coast in the northeast corner of France close to the Belgian frontier.

Observers on the southeast coast said mid-day skies were alive with fighters protecting very large bombers.

A communiqué said not a plane was lost in the night sweep along the German coast.

Commander In Chief Of French Meets British

Delegations Will Negotiate Conditions Of A Settlement

BULLEIN
Cairo, Egypt, July 12.—(AP)—Allied forces have been under orders to cease firing in Syria since last midnight after the French commander-in-chief, General Henri Dentz, agreed to negotiate "on our terms," the British middle east general headquarters announced today.

BULLEIN
London, July 12.—(AP)—An authoritative source said today that hostilities ceased in Syria last night and dispatches from Jerusalem reported that a Vichy French delegation crossed the British lines this morning under a flag of truce to begin armistice discussions.

Beirut, Lebanon, July 12.—(AP)—General Henri Dentz, the Vichy commander-in-chief in Syria, has entered into direct negotiations with the British looking toward an armistice after the refusal of the French government to accept British terms, it was announced officially today.

A French delegation left Beirut to meet British authorities and negotiate conditions of a settlement.

London sources said fighting had stopped last night. The Vichy headquarters of the British middle-east command said the British and Free French were ordered to cease fire at that time, after Dentz agreed to negotiate on British terms.

Free to Negotiate
General Dentz acted as soon as he received word from Vichy that the 11-point British armistice terms had been turned down by the government. In declaring the terms unacceptable, Vichy left Dentz free to negotiate an armistice if he thought it essential from the military standpoint.

The negotiations for a truce went forward yesterday, it was said, in London, after communications had been reestablished through the United States consulate in Beirut.

The conflict between the two former allies, British and French, thus appeared ended, after little more than a month of battle.

The British with their Free French allies, crossed the Syrian and Lebanese frontiers on Sunday, June 8, from Palestine and Transjordan. A few days later Indian motorized columns advanced from the east, from Iraq.

No Territorial Designs
The British and Free French prefaced their invasion by declaring they were acting to forestall use of the French-mandated territories as a military base for Nazi and Fascist air forces and troops.

The British disclaimed any territorial designs by supporting a Free French proclamation promising the Syrians independence.

More than 1,500 men of the British and allied forces have been killed or wounded during the conflict, the British have announced.

Diagram Shows How Accident Fatal To Two Occurred

The above, approximate and unofficial diagram, superimposed upon a photograph of the intersection of Fifth and Hawkins streets, shows the path of the Rogers' car and the path of the Mrs. Wood's car. The horizontal broken line shows the eastward progress of the car driven by Fred C. Rogers, Chebanse rural route 1, while the vertical line shows the path of an auto driven by Milton Offerman, 20, 1194 South Sixth avenue. The cross at the intersection's center shows approximately where the cars collided and the extension of the broken line to the left shows how the Rogers car rolled over the curb to strike Mrs. David W. Wood, walking along the sidewalk at the approximate position marked by another cross. The arrow shows the location of Mrs. Wood's home, Charles Haselow, 52, passenger in Rogers' car, also was fatally injured.

Mrs. David Wood, City Treasurer's Wife, Killed

Car Hurtles Curb To Strike Pedestrian;
Chas. Haselow Dies

Mrs. Mable Wood, wife of David Wood, Kankakee city treasurer and former alderman of the Fourth ward, was one of two persons fatally injured in an automobile accident in Kankakee at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Wood lived only a few minutes after being struck by an auto at the intersection of Fifth avenue and Hawkins street, only a short distance from her home at 1615 South Fifth avenue.

Charles Haselow, 50, Kankakee tire shop operator, residing on Chebanse rural route 1 near the Sugar Island bridge, a passenger in one of the two cars in the crash, died in St. Mary hospital at 11:50 o'clock last night.

Mrs. Wood was not a passenger in either automobile but had just crossed Hawkins street, walking south on the east side of Fifth avenue, when one of the automobiles hurtled over the curb, after being struck by another car at the intersection, and rolled over her.

One of the cars, a 1936 sedan, was being driven south on Fifth avenue by Milton Offerman, 20, 1194 South Sixth avenue. The other was a 1937 driven east by Fred C. Rogers, 52, a plasterer residing on Kankakee rural route 1 at the George Schroeder place near the intersection of highways 45 and 115. Haselow was a passenger with Rogers in the front seat.

After the collision, the Rogers car rolled over several times, according to witnesses, toward the south and east, going over the curb and striking Mrs. Wood who was on the sidewalk about six or seven feet south of the curb, having just crossed Hawkins street.

She was on her way home, apparently intending to cross Fifth avenue toward her house, after having mailed a letter at the mailbox a block east.

Crushed Victim
The Rogers car rolled completely over Mrs. Wood, inflicting internal injuries which caused her death.

Offerman suffered only minor scratches and Rogers only a bruised shoulder. Rogers later told Coroner Ed P. Madison at the hospital that he was traveling 20 miles an hour and that the other car "was practically into me" when he saw it.

He said the Offerman car struck him just back of the front seat of his own car.

Rogers said he didn't see Mrs. Wood at all until after the crash. He told the coroner that the rear end of his car was thrown toward the south and east and came to rest on the curb after rolling over, with the front end facing the north and east.

Looked One Way
Rogers also told the coroner that he was looking toward the south as he drove into the intersection. He said he has no doubt of the speed of the Offerman auto.

Offerman's story to the coroner is that he was traveling 25 miles an hour, while returning home from his work at the Turk Manufacturing company, Bradley. He didn't see the Rogers car until it was right in front of him, he said, and that he didn't have time to apply brakes.

Chicago Man Gets 1-10 Year Sentence

Waukegan, July 12.—(RN Special)—Russell A. Gair, 47, Chicago, yesterday was sentenced to the state penitentiary for one to ten years by Circuit Judge Rogers after he pleaded guilty to the charge of kidnapping.

The judge said that the law which permits the trial judge to make recommendations as to the length of sentence, Judge South recommended that the prisoner serve one year at least and not more than three.

Gair, accused of embezzlement and operating a confidence game by which he obtained $5,000 from the late Dion Pierce, Waukegan, was found guilty on June 25 by a jury of seven women and five men.

Sees Danger In Joint Occupation Of Iceland

Intensified Axis Activity Is Reported In South America

Washington, July 12.—Immediate withdrawal of British troops from Iceland to forestall a possible Nazi attack which would place American marines and sailors there under fire, was demanded today by Senator Bruce D. Mather, a member of the naval affairs committee.

Describing the joint occupation of Iceland by American and British forces as "fraught with danger," Mather asserted that if United States troops were to take over the British, they would get out of the island.

"As long as the British are there," he told reporters, "the Germans have the right to demand that the British be removed. If they did, our troops either would have to fight back or accept the presence of a hostile force on our soil."

"If we are to be prevented with the issue of an attack on our troops, we must have a continued issue such as would be raised by joint occupation with the British. The sooner British troops are withdrawn, the better it will be for us."

Views similar to those expressed by Mather were reported to have been aired in a closed session of the naval affairs committee yesterday when reliable sources said Secretary Knox and Admiral Harold R. Stark denied published reports that the navy had engaged in combat with German naval units or that it was being urged to do so.

Senator Porter D. Igo, who is not a member of the naval committee, said he was quoted by the press as saying that the British were planning to withdraw from Iceland and that American forces of sufficient strength were landed.

"The National Broadcasting company's news story from New York last night heard a report, on the same frequency as that used by the British radio, declaring that the first British contingent landed in Iceland."

Meanwhile government officials who declined to be quoted by the press, said they were not aware of any danger from Axis operations in South America and the western Pacific. They said that the department had been alerted to the possibility of an attack on the Hawaiian Islands.

These sources said that Secretary of War William D. Stimson and General George C. Marshall had advised congressmen that the United States was not in any danger from the Axis.

MANGRUM IN SEMI-FINALS OF NATIONAL PGA MEET

Midwest Champ Defeats Sneed; Battles Ghezzi

By STEVE SNIDER
Cherry Hills Club, Denver, July 12.—(UP)—The Kankakee Golf Club's champion, Steve Snider, today won the semi-final round of the National PGA tournament, defeating Sneed, 10 and 9.

Since match play started the championship and Snider have tied the best of the tournament on the basis both of medal play scores and other course.

Fourteen under par for 99 holes, Mangrum was considered a walk-in against Ghezzi, who had won the Italian from Deal, N. J., who is eight over par for the same distance.

Sarazen, of course, was the unpredictable. By almost every rating, Nelson should beat him. But Ghezzi has been coming to these P. G. A. tournaments for 21 years—three times leaving with the trophy in his luggage—and seldom has he been hotter than this week.

Nelson, however, has the confidence of a champion. Down all the way against little Ben Hogan yesterday, Nelson won the last three holes to win the 36-hole green. Somehow the spectators knew he'd do it, although Hogan has shown no sign of cracking at any stage.

Nelson had the air of a winner. When Hogan's ball bounded off the high heel on the shoe of a woman spectator at the 35th hole, Nelson selected the break as effectively as Joe Louis spotted the patch of white on Billy Conn's chin.

CATCHING A FISH OFF FIRST

This is the story of a fisherman who was an athlete at Kankakee high school a number of years ago. He was an athlete at Kankakee high school a number of years ago. He was an athlete at Kankakee high school a number of years ago.

The man without a country didn't have much on John W. Smith. When John's draft number was about to be called, he secured a year's leave of absence from his job as coach at Peoria high school. He then hired John McGraw to take his place for one year.

Then came the announcement that all men 28 or over had been deferred. So John doesn't have to do an army uniform. But he doesn't have a job either. He is looking for a good coach. He will do well to contact John W. Smith at 306 Harrison avenue, Charleston.

John was at Ogden high school before Peoria. McGraw took him to a serious baseball game. McGraw was a good coach and has been popular at each location.

Shooting the past and four birds, McGraw was a good coach. McGraw was a good coach and has been popular at each location. McGraw was a good coach and has been popular at each location.

Bob Hope Says A Mirthful In 'Caught In The Draft'

Bob Hope, the man who always says a mirthful, is a buck private in Paramount's all-out comedy blitz on Uncle Sam's draftees, "Caught in the Draft," which comes to the Paramount theater Sunday. Dorothy Lamour, co-starring with the popular screen and radio gagsters in their fourth picture together, emerges as a new figure in the fashion world. For the screen's best "undressed" woman wears 22 changes of smart costumes and makes her first bid for another title, "The Screen's Best DRESSED Woman."

The sparkling Hope-Lamour team is supported by two new comedy recruits, Lynne Overman and Eddie Bracken, who assist Bob in carrying out his one-main assault against orthodox army discipline and military tactics.

Keystone comedy-style tank chases, potato peeling and a wacky campaign to win Dorothy, the colonel's daughter, are only part of the routine's gag routine that gives promise of something refreshing and hilarious to look forward to when Hope comes to town.

The Lamour allure, judging from her advance photos, seems to have climbed to a new thermometer high.

In her fashion front garb, ranging from a negligee to an idea in bathing suits, she outstrips her nearest sarong, sinjang and "Road to Zanzibar" fern leaf costume. From advance news reports, Dorothy should have little difficulty in converting her screen role as "the sweetheart of the Army" to the real McCoy.

Bob Hope has registered the only kick against the film.

"So far as I'm concerned, 'Caught in the Draft' is the greatest picture I've ever worked in—except for the ending," sighed Hope. "I wish in the picture as a corporal. I wish they'd change it to a sergeant. Look at the corporals: First, we had Napoleon; then Mussolini; then Hitler! I don't want people to get the idea that Hope is ambitious. I'm just a plain guy. I'm not campaigning to take over the chamber of commerce—even though they do keep on bragging about the weather!"

Look What the Draft Blew In

Dorothy Lamour has two sweethearts to whom she's true—Bob Hope and the rest of army. Her three khaki knights, Lynne Overman, Eddie Bracken and Hope make life interesting for her in "Caught in the Draft," Paramount's merry military hilarity which comes to the Paramount theater on Sunday. She's the colonel's daughter and there's little these boys haven't taught here—especially when it comes to keeping them out of the clink.

Kankakee Boy in Starring Role

Lovely as a jungle orchid, yet deadly as a tiger, is the kind of a woman Brenda Marshall portrays in Warner's "Singapore Woman." She is shown above in a scene from the film with David Bruce who is co-starring with her. Co-feature, "The Big Boss," featuring Otto Kruger and Gloria Dickson with John Littel at the Luna theater.

Mickey Rooney at Majestic

When Mickey Rooney comes out of the office of his "private secretary" bearing the imprint of the latter's kiss on his cheek, it's circumstantial evidence that's hard to contradict. At least that's the way Ann Butherford feels in this comedy scene from "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," which opens Sunday at the Majestic theater. Lloyd Nolan in "Sleepers West" is co-featured.
